

Continue the story...

Finally, after years of training, and seven months of isolation aboard my ship, I had touched down on the rocky surface of Mars and taken humanity's first steps out into this alien world. My most important job was to log my initial thoughts and to put down in words what I saw around me. Three hours later, after this mind-blowing experience, I will now share my thoughts:

Continue the story...

Finally, after years of training, and seven months of isolation aboard my ship, I had touched down on the rocky surface of Mars and taken humanity's first steps out into this alien world. My most important job was to log my initial thoughts and to put down in words what I saw around me. Three hours later, after this mind-blowing experience, I will now share my thoughts:

Continue the story...

Finally, after years of training, and seven months of isolation aboard my ship, I had touched down on the rocky surface of Mars and taken humanity's first steps out into this alien world. My most important job was to log my initial thoughts and to put down in words what I saw around me. Three hours later, after this mind-blowing experience, I will now share my thoughts:

Continue the story...

Finally, after years of training, and seven months of isolation aboard my ship, I had touched down on the rocky surface of Mars and taken humanity's first steps out into this alien world. My most important job was to log my initial thoughts and to put down in words what I saw around me. Three hours later, after this mind-blowing experience, I will now share my thoughts: